Judy Greenspon Presents Keynote Address at 2014 CA 39th District Congressional STEM Competition

Last Wednesday, May 16th, 2014, may be remembered for wildfires and record high temperatures in southern California, but NPI Services, Inc., founder and president Judy Greenspon was keeping it cool as the keynote speaker for the 2014 California 39th District Congressional STEM Competition Awards. The event was hosted by U.S. Representative Ed Royce, also a sponsor of the bill to create these competitions to advance STEM Education (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics).

This year's competition, informally known as The House App Contest (<http://studentappchallenge.house.gov/>) was an opportunity for high school students to create...

NPI Services and T3G Compliance (May 2, 2014)

The first reports for calendar year 2013 for compliance with the Conflict Minerals Law (AKA The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act) are due at the end of this month, May 31, 2014. Although a U.S. Appellate Court has recently ruled that a provision requiring companies to report publicly whether their products use conflict minerals violates the First Amendment, other provisions, including reporting to the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), are still on track. Fortunately, NPI Services is also on track for its customers concerned with Conflict Minerals compliance.

Part Number 10392423 Calls Foul! (April 4, 2014)

What is true for every endeavor is especially true for a quick turn electronic assembly business, - quality matters. Certifications and standards, policies and procedures are all in place to minimize mistakes. A few days ago, The Orange County Register featured Bill Vlasic's article in The New York Times called "An Engineer's Eureka Moment with a G.M. Flaw." Vlasic writes, "The discovery was at once subtle and significant:..." Reading what followed was a jaw-dropping experience. His discovery is significant, yes, leading to a recall of 2.6 million vehicles worldwide, and House and Senate investigations, but subtle?
